

Nouns Money City Atlas

Founding collection proposal and implementation brief | 2 October 2026

Start with El Segundo, Los Angeles and New York as proposed seed collections. Let people find their city, discover the artwork and propose a local collection. The first release is an artwork and community publishing experience, with no cash sales or claims of live adoption.

A place for major and smaller cities

Give every place the same path to propose a collection. El Segundo, Los Angeles and New York are editorial starting points, not launched programs. A global discovery list can include London, Lagos, Tokyo, Porto and Dunedin as proposed examples only. Do not add markers that suggest local organizers have already joined.

The journey

Choose a city → explore its proposed city page → inspect art, provenance and creator credits → create a founding collection proposal → moderator review → publish the approved proposal. Publishing a proposal does not launch a currency or certify a city partnership.

Why help seed a collection

Offer optional named or alias founding credit; a first-edition commemorative collectible if an edition is approved; co-design sessions; participation in events when announced; and clear contributor roles such as artist, local researcher or host. Each benefit shows its status, eligibility and delivery owner. No payment is required to propose.

City identity and data

Use a stable place ID, country and administrative region to disambiguate names. Slugs are display routes, never ownership claims. Distinguish New York City from New York State; keep El Segundo separate from Los Angeles even when markers cluster.

citySlug: "el-segundo-ca-us"
displayName: "El Segundo"; country: "US"; admin1: "CA"
placeId: "geonames:5345860"
coords: { lat: 33.91918, lng: -118.41647 }
source: { url, retrievedAt, attribution } status: "proposed"
curatorConsent: { status: "not_requested", evidenceId: null }
collectionIDs: []
benefitsStatus: "proposed"

Keep proposal, place and collection records separate. A proposal also needs artwork source IDs and checksums, creator credits, submission owner, moderation history and a versioned benefit list. Each benefit carries status (proposed / confirmed / fulfilled / withdrawn), criteria and owner. Never expose private consent evidence publicly.

Review and publishing rules

1. Resolve duplicate place names, aliases, transliterations and municipal boundaries against the source record. Multiple independent collections may reference one city; no territorial exclusivity.
2. Require submitter consent before displaying a curator name. Check art rights and provenance. Use exact Nouns source SVGs for production, not the generated character rendering.
3. Review municipal names, official-looking seals and endorsement language. Label the page as an independent community artwork initiative. Escalate impersonation and disputed naming.
4. Rate-limit proposals, detect duplicates, sanitize text and links, provide report/review controls and keep an audit log. Avoid a payment or wallet requirement for anti-spam.
5. Publish only after human moderation; allow revision, rejection, withdrawal and appeal. Draft data must never appear as launched activity.

Map and interaction acceptance

Use a licensed vector world basemap and a declared projection, with source attribution. Plot sourced coordinates; cluster nearby markers and offer a keyboard-accessible list. The concept image is illustrative, not map data. Cards and filters must expose proposed status in text, not color alone. Test mobile navigation, city-search collisions, empty states and every publish gate.

Product boundaries

Artwork collectibles are separate from any future backed currency. Do not promise token allocations, financial return, redeemability, city ownership, government endorsement or exclusive rights to a place. Future currency issuance needs its own product and review. Do not show invented collectors, volumes or network totals.

Sources and production assets

El Segundo place coordinates: UNT Digital Library verified place record. Place lookup design: GeoNames documentation. Artwork: supplied canonical Nouns #12, #38 and #74 SVGs and provenance records; artwork reuse does not convey NFT ownership or endorsement. All benefits and city programs here remain proposals.
